

In September we at Essendine resolved to become a Rights Respecting School. We believe that all children should be heard and their rights should be respected. This can only happen when everyone is aware of their rights. Our outstanding council took on this monumental challenge, committing to make sure every member of the community knows about the Convention for the Rights of the Child. After conducting surveys, discussing issues, delivering assemblies and coffee mornings, we are proud to announce that we are now a Bronze Award-winning school!

A huge thank you to everyone who has helped us begin this journey and made our start to it so successful. In particular, our School Council, whose efforts have been nothing short of extraordinary. Well Done!
