

EYFS – Reading/Phonics Workshop

Thank you for coming!

By the end of the workshop...

The purpose of today's session is to support you with reading with your children.

At Essendine we encourage you to read with your children as much as possible and we think it is helpful for you to see how we read with the children at school and how we support them to use their phonics to read.

The Importance of Reading

- Enable children to access the rest of the curriculum
- Improves concentration
- Builds self-esteem
- Develops creativity
- Improves school performance

“The more you read
the more things you know.
The more that you learn the more places you’ll go.”

Phonics

Phonics is about teaching children the sounds different letters make to help them to read and write. This video explains phonics in more detail.

ELS Essential Letters and Sounds developed by Knowledge Schools Trust

Getting all children to read well, quickly.

This is how we would use phonics to help your children to read..

What is ELS?

What is ELS?

Essential Letters and Sounds (ELS) is our chosen phonics programme. It teaches children to read by identify the phonemes (smallest unit of sound) and graphemes (written version of the sound) within words and using these to read words. Children experience the joy of books and language whilst rapidly acquiring the skills they need to become fluent independent readers and writers.

How do we teach phonics?

- We use a simple, consistent approach to teaching phonics.
- We have mnemonics and rhymes to support learning and recall
- We teach phonics every single day from the first days of Reception

Reading with your child

- Make sure you set aside a specific time for reading every day and make reading a priority.
- Walk through the book first and discuss the pictures and the important words.
- Be positive. Praise your child for trying hard at their reading. Let them know it is alright to make mistakes.
- Fill out their reading record daily

Reading with your child

- We suggest that you read the decodable text provided by the school 4 times across the week.
- Spending 10 minutes a day reading with your child will hugely support them in their journey to becoming an independent reader.
- It is a key part of learning to read that children re-read words and sentences that they can decode (sound out) until they are fluent (read with ease and precision). By reading texts several times children have the greatest opportunity to achieve this fluency.

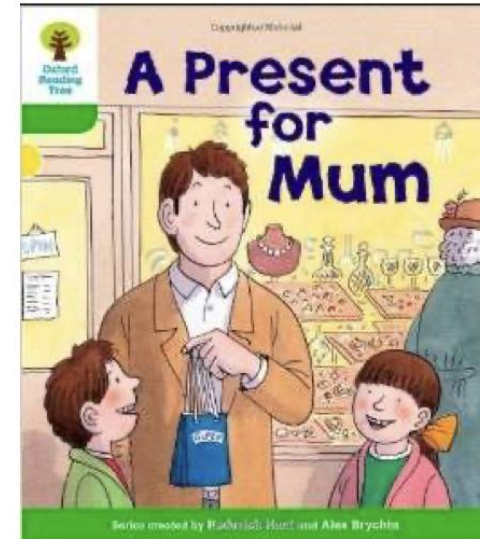

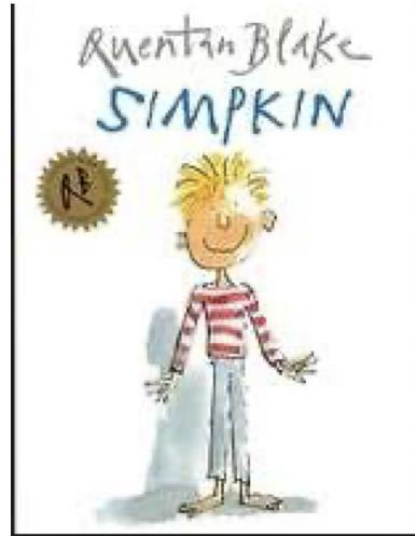

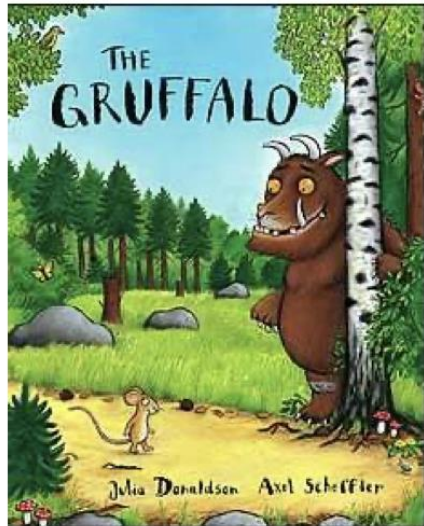

Questioning and understanding

- Being able to read does not mean you understand what you read.
- Your child might sound like a good reader but may not necessarily understand what the text means.
- The best way to develop understanding is to talk about texts and re-read books

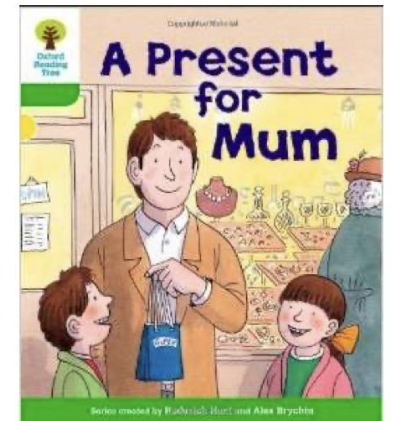

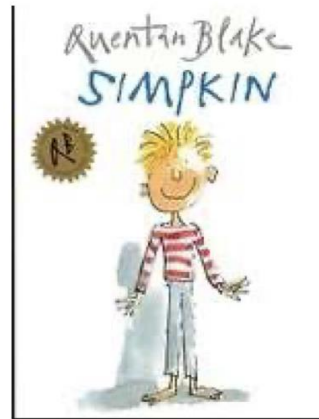

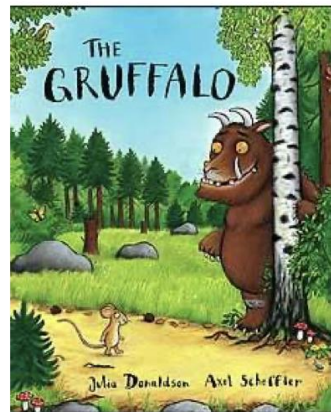

Before you read a book

If it is the first time your child has read the book, look at the cover and title with them to predict what they think the book might be about. Make links to other books read with similar themes, the same characters and/or similar authors/illustrators.

During reading

- Let your child decode the words independently, giving help if needed
- Have your child use his/her finger to follow the direction of the text (top to bottom, left to right)
- Ask your child many questions about the characters in the book as you read the story
- Unpick new words

After-reading

- What was your favourite part of the book? Why?
- Who was your favourite character? Why?
- What was the most interesting thing you learned from the book?
- Why do you think the author wrote this book?
- Would you have ended the book differently? Did it end the way you thought it would?
- Did the problem of the book's plot get solved?
- If you could change one thing in the book, what would it be?
